

Ears and Eyes (Dave Hopwood The Big big Rhyming Bible!)

The ear said to the nose one day - 'You're far too close to me!' So the ear moved down south and landed on the knee.

The knee didn't want the ear so close so he moved down to the toe. The toe was not too happy so he hopped of to Heathrow.

The thumb was already waiting there,
He didn't like the eye. And before long the shin bone appeared And they flew into the sky.

Meanwhile the heart was getting tired of the knuckles and the wrist. They were always cracking terrible jokes, he'd had enough of this.

Without a heart the body died, it just gave up and fell. It lay there with a few bits missing and soon began to smell.

All the other bits were sad, no one was having fun. They just gave up and sighed a lot. And nothing more was done.

That body is like people,

It's just like you and me.

Without each other we fall to bits!

We need each other, you see.

Hello everyone I hope you are keeping well. Here is another newsletter to help keep us in touch with Jesus. I hope that prayer time is helping to keep us strong in these difficult and strange days. The poem Ears and Eyes is based on one of St. Paul's letters and reminds us that we are all equally important in God's eyes and that we all have a part to play in building up our families and community. Hopefully we will be kind to one another building up the family and not knocking down as in the JCB prayer. There is an important Gospel message for everyone to be unscrambled and a few jokes.

Take care and God bless—Fr. Fintan

The JCB

It moved into action, flexing its mechanical muscles, and the wall tumbled before it, bricks and mortar falling like confetti, nothing able to obstruct its relentless progress as it reduced the building to a pile of rubble— what had taken months to build destroyed in a few moments.

It's easy to tear down, Lord— I do it at times.

Through a harsh word or critical look, I rip the ground from beneath people's feet , taking away their confidence and demolishing their self-esteem.

Forgive me for finding fault, magnifying weaknesses and dwelling on mistakes and instead of putting people down, help me to build them up— constructive in all I do, think and say.

Amen

Used by kind permission of Kevin Mayhew Ltd publisher Nick Fawcett author book Calling Mars

Unscramble the message from Jesus in the Gospel.

SJESU POMSRIS ATHT YEREV ARHI NO ROUY
EAHD SI DTUCEON. UOY ERA PIUSECRO NI EHT
SYEE FO EHT OLDR

What did the big flower say to the little flower? Hi bud!

Why couldn't the pony sing a lullaby? She was a little horse

What do you give a sick lemon? Lemon Aid

Why do giraffes have long necks? Because their feet smell